To whom it may concern,

I am pleased to recommend Joel Brewster for the position of Web Developer at your company.

As the Partner at Bone Digital, I have had the pleasure of working alongside Joel when he was employed with us as a Developer. He was punctual, dependable, creative, collaborative and dedicated in achieving the results we and the client were after.

Joel takes a great deal of pride in what he does and respectfully works hard to achieve the exact results everyone is looking for. He frequently studies to stay up-to-date on the latest tech and is passionate about writing clean, quality code and solving clients' problems through development.

With that said, I am highly confident in my recommendation and believe that Joel would be a great fit for you.

If you would like to speak further about my experience working with Joel, please email me at simon@bone.digital or call me on 0402 753 239.

Sincerely,

Simon Hipgrave
